LIFE ON BOARD

Whether you are a seasoned voyager or new to cruise, every cruise experience is magical from the moment you step on board. Exciting destinations coupled with magnificent innovation and sheer diversity mean finding the perfect cruise to suit you has never been easier. There are so many different types from ultra-luxurious to classic ships and mega-liners, to sleek yacht cruisers, there really is a style to suit everyone. Speak to your travel agent who will guide you and find your perfect holiday at sea.

What's included?

Most cruise lines include all meals within a selection of dining venues, ranging from fine dining to casual eateries throughout the ship. Drinks may not be included but it's often possible to pre-purchase a range of drinks packages, a great idea for designing an all inclusive holiday to suit your taste. Speciality restaurants feature on many ships where additional charges apply and reservations are required. All packages shown in this brochure include meals on board and we've highlighted where extras are also included in the price. For further details of what's included on board each ship, please speak to your travel agent.

Things to do on board

Spend your days at sea relaxing by the pool, indulge in a spa experience, take a dance class or learn new culinary skills. Sip a signature cocktail in one of the many bars, enjoy delectable dining, watch a movie under the evening stars, have a flutter at the casino or be dazzled by Broadway-style shows and world-class live music. For younger sailors, there's a whole world of exciting activities to choose from. Delight in life on board a cruise ship where every day is different with so much to discover.

A foodies' delight

Dining is a flexible affair with a staggering array of options available around the clock, you'll be spoiled for choice. Today's larger ships allow you to dine at your leisure, even in the main restaurant within a specific time window. Should you enjoy dining at a certain hour with the same waiter, this is still available on many ships. Some smaller ships do adhere to set times due to limited space. You don't have to dress formally for dinner every evening. Most cruise lines feature formal nights, but generally dress as you would for any smart restaurant with gentlemen usually required to wear a jacket and tie.

Time to explore

Every port has a story to tell, discover a unique adventure at every stop. Explore the local culture, gaze up at towering formations, sample culinary delights, enjoy adrenaline-pumping thrills or immerse yourself in natural beauty. Explore at your own pace or why not pre-book one of the comprehensive shore excursions, each delving deep into each incredible destination, making memories to last a lifetime.

Stylish accommodation

With an extensive range of staterooms and suites on offer, it's important to consider size and location as each contribute to the enjoyment of your cruise. If you're not planning to spend much time in your stateroom, choose from well-designed interior staterooms or ocean-view staterooms featuring views of the sparkling seas. For those who require more space, options include balcony staterooms and a range of suites. Today's ships feature accommodation with every type of guest in mind, from couples and families to groups of friends and solo travellers, all designed to offer the highest levels of comfort and style.

Celebrity Solstice Ocean View Stateroom

Gratuities

It is customary for gratuities to be automatically applied to streamline the recognition and appreciation for the hard work and exceptional service provided by all ship staff to enhance your overall cruise experience. Some cruise lines include gratuities while others allow you to pre-pay at the time of booking. Should these options not be available, the charge will be added to your onboard account. Charges vary by ship and are dependent on a range of criteria.

Alcohol policies

Minimum age requirements apply, depending on the destination and ship registry. Generally, most lines do not permit alcohol to be brought on board at embarkation. Some permit alcohol to be purchased in port but it will be held until the last night of the cruise. While most cruise lines do heavily restrict spirits, they are often more lenient concerning wine and Champagne, however corkage fees will apply. Each cruise line has a slightly different policy, please speak to your travel agent for more information.
